Intercede Health names new Chief Executive Officer

Prior General Electric Senior Vice President to lead organization

HOUSTON, TX MARCH 3, 2008

Intercede Health, a privately held medical management company, announces the appointment of Gray Miller as Chief Executive Officer effective immediately.

Miller takes over leadership of the company as Intercede Health builds momentum in the healthcare consulting and software businesses with its hospitalist services, general hospital consulting and its revolutionary CPOE system, Order Optimizer™. “Gray brings a wealth of insight and senior management experience to our company and is a great addition to our team. I am excited about his leadership and the direction our company is taking,” noted company founder, Dr. Philip Sanger.

Before joining Intercede Health, Miller served as Vice President and General Manager of Geriatric Care Services, a division of Long Term Care Group (LTCG) in Eden Prairie, MN. Under his leadership the company launched a $12MM business specializing in medical management of elder populations.

Prior to forming Geriatric Care Services, Miller was Senior Vice President, Business Operations of GE’s Long Term Care Insurance division, the nation’s largest provider of long term care insurance policies. Miller has also held several Six Sigma and Finance leadership roles in the United Kingdom, USA, and China. Internationally experienced and GE trained, Miller is a seasoned veteran of providing direct benefits to the bottom line.
